Express Mondor gets the SmartWay® certification

Lanoraie, Quebec, Canada, August 21, 2017 – Express Mondor is pleased to announce that it has been certified as a SmartWay program transportation company, to make way for a greener future! The SmartWay program was created by the Environmental Protection Agency (USA) and is managed in Canada by Natural Resources Canada (NRCan) to recognize companies that operate truck fleets while reducing fuel costs and greenhouse gas emissions, improving efficiency and applying supply chain best practices.

“We’ve worked hard to get our SmartWay certification not only because it’s a challenging program but also because it’s a rewarding one that makes it possible for us to measure our performance, continuously improve and compare ourselves to our peers. Moreover, SmartWay lines up with our corporate values, which are to focus on innovation, efficiency and safety to meet our customers’ expectations while also protecting the environment,” says Éric Mondor, president of Express Mondor. “We’d like to thank all our drivers and all our team members for helping us get this important recognition.”

Many responsible North American shipping companies are seeking SmartWay certification.

“More and more shippers want to know the practices and the operational and environmental performance of their carriers, and many of them require that the transport companies they do business with be SmartWay certified. This change demonstrates the evolution of North American companies and a growing desire to work with carriers who share their environmental and efficiency goals,” says Billy Mondor, vice-president, Business Development of Express Mondor.

Express Mondor’s SmartWay certification marks another milestone in the realization of its strategic plan, whose aims is to ensure the company’s growth by focusing on unparalleled service quality as well as efficiency, safety and environmental protection.
